Try: VD's have my comment?

Three points:

1) The (S) for satellite is an unfortunate choice since it could be confused with a classification marking. How about P or F?

2) Should consideration be given to adding the edition only after we have begun exploiting more than one? Currently we (FBIS) exploit only the 2nd edition of KRAZNAYA ZVEZDA, thus would not need to indicate the edition.

3) We will coordinate appropriate changes with JPRS.

SUBJECT: [] Sourcelines

STAT

FROM: Chief, Field Coverage Staff

On 22 October, Okinawa Bureau processed, and the DAILY REPORT published, a PRAVDA editorial taken from the [] transmission. This was the first publication of material taken from the [] We now need to resolve the question of [] sourcelines in anticipation that if, not in the next few weeks during the GOSR, certainly within a couple of months, our processing of [] materials will start escalating.

STAT
SIAI

STAT

Our major concern at this time is whether there is a need to distinguish between items processed from the [] and items processed from our subscription editions. I think, at least for the time being, that we should identify items processed from the [] We may find in time that this is not necessary, but for now I think it would be prudent to do so.

STAT

I purpose that we do the following: 1) include the "edition" identification in all sourcelines when this is indicated by the paper or where we have determined by other means (IZVESTIYA, for example) which edition we have; and 2) include an identifying letter in each [] sourceline. The latter would guarantee that FBIS could verify after publication whether an item in the DR came from the pressfax. This could prove useful in the event a question is raised about an FBIS-published version of an item. This could occur if say the embassy in Moscow referred to a particular item in a paper and the FBIS version differed. We would be in a position to explain the discrepancy. This is assuming that over a period of time this remains a potential problem. If it turns out that adding the edition to the sourceline is sufficient, eventually we could drop the [] letter or symbol.

STAT

Based on AG's initial comparison of the []/subscription papers, we have determined the following: 1) PRAVDA on the [] is the first edition; our subscription version is the second edition; 2) IZVESTIYA on the [] is the second or "morning" edition, the same as our subscription version; while this version is not identified in terms of edition, PMU and Werner Hahn have confirmed that the evening (or first edition) IZVESTIYA is identified in the masthead, making it relatively certain that the unidentified version is the second or morning edition; 3) KRAZNAYA ZVEZDA on the [] is the second edition, the same as our subscription; 4) SOVETSKAYA ROSSIYA on the [] is the first edition; our subscription version is

STAT

SUBJECT: [] Sourcelines

STAT

the second edition. Other papers on the [] do not have any edition identification, though in a few instances we found that there were differences in the content of the [] and subscription versions.

STAT

I propose then that we include the edition when known, making our sourcelines identical in format to our present IZVESTIYA sourceline: "Moscow PRAVDA in Russian 18 Oct 82 First Edition p 2," "Moscow KRAZNAYA ZVEZDA in Russian 18 Oct 82 Second Edition p 4," etc. In addition, add a bracketed letter to all pressfax sourcelines in the following manner:

OW261650 Moscow PRAVDA in Russian 27 Oct 82 First Edition
p 2 (S)

The "S" would stand for satellite and could be used with other sourcelines for materials taken from future satellite transmissions should it be necessary to make such an identification. So long as there is no possibility of confusion, as with our present Moscow TV coverage, there would be no reason to add the letter.

I do not pretend to have thought of all possible angles to all this, so please feel free to comment or offer other suggestions.

PROGRESS OF GAS PIPELINE PROGRAM REPORTED

LD191322 Moscow TASS International Service in Russian 0937 GMT 19 Oct 82

[Text] Moscow, 19 Oct (TASS) -- There remain one hundred km of pipe to be laid by the builders of the transcontinental gas pipeline from Urengoy to Novopskov. This line, which is 3.346 km long, will join the major gas deposit in western Siberia with the industrial regions of the Ukraine.

The last hundred km will be laid in boggy sections of western Siberia in November, when the frost makes this passable for machinery. Urengoy-Novopskov will be the third transcontinental gas pipeline to be laid in the current 5-year period, (1981-1985) from western Siberia to the European part of the Soviet Union.

There are plans to build six gas pipelines -- 1.5 meters in diameter -- with a total length of 22,000 km for the transportation of fuel to the center of the country. This gigantic construction program is being carried out successfully. Construction of the fourth export main line from Urengoy to Uzhgorod is now in full swing.

Gas extraction is to increase sharply in the eighties in the USSR. By 1985, it will reach 640 billion cubic meters. Western Siberia -- the main source of gas -- is separated from consumers by thousands of kilometers, and so the problem of transporting Siberian gas is today one of the main economic tasks for the coming decade.

Gas pipelines built in the USSR are designed for a pressure of 75 atmospheres. Soviet scientists and specialists have developed technology for them, created new machines, almost doubling the rate of construction of gas pipelines in the previous 5-year period. Recently, production was begun in Leningrad of 25 megawatt pumping units for them. The installation of the first compressor station, equipped with the Leningrad units, has begun on one of the gas pipelines. It will begin operation as early as this month.

RECOMMENDATIONS ISSUED ON CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS

[Editorial: "Urgent Concerns of Construction Workers" -- capitalized passages published in boldface type]

[Text] The nitroammonium phosphate fertilizer shop of the Novgorod Azot association has begun production of its first fertilizer pellets. The mining and concentrating combine in Kostomuksha has begun shipments of iron ore pellets, an excellent raw material for blast furnaces.... More and more frequently reports are coming in from construction sites on the completion of work and on the commissioning of production capacities. It is an intense and responsible time for construction workers. Many projects must be commissioned in the final months of the year.

The current year is a serious test for the collectives of construction and installation organizations and for their subcontractors. At the November (1981) CPSU Central Committee Plenum Comrade L.I. Brezhnev noted that it is necessary "to achieve in practice fundamental changes in capital construction and to bring production capacities envisaged by the plan into operation at all projects without exception."

In 9 months the country received fixed assets valued at nearly R58 billion which were built at the expense of state capital investments. This was R4 billion or 8 percent more than during the same period of last year.

USSR NATIONAL AFFAIRS
POLITICAL & SOCIAL DEVELOPMENTS

And that is not a tribute to fashion but, if you like, a sign of respect for the reader. Readers' questions are frequently answered in the newspaper by economic leaders, and TRUD's mail is commented on by eminent party and trade union workers. The "open letter days" which the newspaper organizes in collectives have also won high prestige.

We now intend to increase the number of published letters. The editorial office plans to begin the publication of monthly readers' letters pages. What will it be like? Let us consult each other and put our heads together.

TRUD IS A GENERAL POLITICAL NEWSPAPER. Our lofty duty is to propagandize the domestic and foreign policy of the CPSU and the decisions of the 26th party congress and to show graphically the advantages of the Soviet way of life and the historic achievements of socialism. But at the same time we must provide a reasoned refutation of the intrigues of hostile propaganda and anti-Soviet fabrications by our class enemies and bring people the truth about the life of our country and the fraternal socialist countries.

Readers' interest in problems of international life is growing and the newspapers take this into account, assigning considerable space to items on international subjects. We will continue to strive to tell our readers about the problems of the international workers' and trade union movement. Write to us about how you assess our daily rubrics "The Planet's Pulse" and "Latest Wires From Abroad" and the weekly rubrics "International Review," "World of Socialism" and "On the Fronts of the Class Battles." Or maybe you have suggestions for expanding international coverage?

Our entire country will soon celebrate the 60th anniversary of the USSR's formation. You could tell us much that is of interest concerning your achievements -- both production and social. Let us try together to reveal as fully as possible the specific fruitful results of the CPSU's Leninist nationalities policy and to show the economic and cultural flowering of all peoples of our great multinational state.

Our life is interesting and infinitely varied and our vocation is to describe it vividly, profoundly and truthfully. Here too we count on your aid, support and direct participation. A good suggestion, comradely criticism or comment on what pleases you and on what needs to be improved -- all this will help to improve the newspaper. We will heed your suggestions sympathetically. Please mark your letters containing comments with the words: "reader advice."
